Russians Back Down; Permit Convoy To Pass

BERLIN, (UPI) — Soviet officials relented Tuesday night allowing the American convoy to pass after a 41-hour standstill at the East German checkpoint.

Americans had refused to go through the two-day standstill until they were permitted to go through both checkpoints, in Berlin without incident.

U.S. and French officials said convoys of their own in Berlin along the 110-mile highway through East Germany, up with 44 American soldiers and 100 French soldiers, escorted by 100 Red Army soldiers in armored cars armed with machine guns at Marien.

The British and French also offered a Soviet detachment soldiers, dismount to be counted at the Soviet Berlin checkpoint. The French convoy was held up for 65 minutes and the British convoy for 55 minutes.

AMERICAN, French and British diplomats conferred in Washington, Bonn, London and Moscow over the latest incident regarded as a threat to Allied access to Berlin guaranteed by four-power agreements at the end of World War II.

The situation was considered so serious that the Western Allies canceled troop maneuvers in West Berlin and ordered the men to remain near the barracks in the event of an emergency.

THE OFFICIAL Soviet News Agency Tass said the Americans staged a "deliberate provocation" to test Soviet intentions and said the convoy was well supplied with warm clothes, sleeping bags and reserve stocks of food for a long stay at the Soviet checkpoint.

For two consecutive nights the Americans sat in their 12 foot banded trucks hemmed in by Soviet armored personnel carriers at the end of the highway to Berlin. The Russians had hemmed it in with two armored cars behind the convoy and three just in front of it Monday night when the Americans started to make a dash for it.

Elder Monson Discusses 'R's' At Assembly

A second set of the "three R's" was discussed and televised at Tuesday's devotional for BYU students and faculty members. These are "Right to choose, the responsibility of choice and the results of choice," according to Elder Thomas S. Monson, newest and youngest member of the Council of the Twelve of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

"HOW GRATEFUL I am for the principle of free-agency," he exclaimed. He quoted the words of God to Adam and Eve when they were commanded not to eat the tree of knowledge of good and evil. "Nevertheless thou mayest choose for thyself, for it is given unto thee."

Our responsibility to choose, he said, is that we cannot be neutral. "Lucifer has attractively painted his road signs," he commented. "They read: eat, drink and be merry; it's the popular thing to do; just this once won't matter." HE CONTINUED: "The Lord has put up his signs, too: Fear God and keep His commandments. As ye sow, so shall ye reap. There is a law irrevocably decreed He compared the warnings of the Holy Ghost to sonar or "whiskers" to protect white soldiers."

In speaking of the results of choice he asked students to make their decisions with prayer. "No decision a Latter-day Saint makes is mental or unimportant," he said. Every decision has a result on your eternal welfare or someone else's.

"My testimony," he said, "is that if we choose to do right, if we exercise our right of choice and are responsible in our choices, we will be happy and blessed."

The internationally known author, T. H. White, will be the featured speaker at the forum assembly Thursday at 10 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse. He will speak on the topic of "Pleasures of Learning."

U. S. Rejects Russ Claim Governing Army Travel

SECRETARY of State Dean Rusk spelled out U. S. policy on the "very serious matter" before meeting with British, French and West German officials to plan the next Allied move. A formal protest to Moscow was expected. President Kennedy was expected to confer with Rusk and Law.

Mme. Nhu To Join Children In Rome

BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF. (UPI) — Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu made plans Tuesday to fly to Italy and reunite with her three youngest children after being shown a picture of them arriving safely in Rome from Saigon.

THE CHILDREN, ranging in age from 4 to 15, were in South Viet Nam when the regime of her brother-in-law, Ngo Dinh Diem, was overthrown. Diem and Mme. Nhu's husband, Ngo Dinh Nhu were assassinated after the coup.

Mme. Nhu was shown a picture taken in Rome and transmitted via UPI radioteletype to Los Angeles. An aide took it to her room but she had no comment to make concerning it.

THE CONTROVERSIAL former first lady of the deposed government left her $56-a-day suite at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel briefly for a visit to a doctor who performed surgery last week for removal of a small cyst on an eyelid.

WOMEN'S INTRAMURALS

BYU's Women's tennis team thrashed a team from the University of Utah with three wins, one tie match, and no losses on the local courts, Monday.

MARGARET Greenwood scouted Martha Werthill 6.0, 6.0 in the number one singles match. Linda Hoen, playing in the number three singles match, chilled Kathy Snell in straight sets: 6.3, 6.3. The doubles team, Donna Mae Chun and Sylvia Zaugg, also made short work of downing their opponents, Sue Rubin and Vickie Spillbury, 6.4, 6.0.

In the hardest-fought match of the afternoon, Linda Eaton of BYU came back from a 4-6 loss in the first set to defeat her opponent, Elke Fiedler, 7-5 in the second set. This match was called a draw because of the lack of time to play the third set.

UTAH will play host to BYU next Monday in a return meet between the two teams in which there will be 4 singles and 2 doubles matches. Advisor for the team, Miss Grinneth, stated that she was pleased with the results of Monday's meet and expects the team will do as well in the return match.

First Trip East...

Cougars Challenge Colonial Gridders

BYU's football team, an over-due club that gets hungrier with each game, can chalk up a "first" this weekend when it travels to Washington, D. C. for an inter-sectional game with George Washington University.

ANY GRIDIRON records at BYU will be kind of scarce this season, but the George Washington trip will make the first time a BYU football team has played on the East Coast.

The change of a scenery isn't expected to help the Cougars, since they will have to travel nearly 3,000 miles by air to reach the game site, the new 50,000-seat D. C. Stadium.

SATURDAY'S Kickoff (1:30 p.m., EST) should find the BYU team a definite underdog for the second meeting on the gridiron between the two schools.

Both teams have similar season records (1-6 for GW and 1-5 for BYU), but the Colonials seem to have more offensive spark, scoring an average of 17 points a game. BYU's offensive thrusts have netted them about 10 points a game.

MUCH would seem to hinge on the execution of the Cougars' new Y formation which is less than a month old. If the Cougars can add some polish to the new offense, and if the Colonials have trouble defending it, BYU could remain in the game.

Trouble is, Utah State had very little trouble stopping the new formation at Saturday's Homecoming as they limited the home team to only 83 yards total offense. The Cougars weren't much of a threat on the ground or in the air.

THE ONE bright spot in the Homecoming defeat was the play of the Y's interior line which stopped the Farmers in their line thrusts. Several individual performances, too, were well above par.

There's a good chance head coach Hal Mitchell may juggle the Cougar lineup for this week end, in as much as BYU lacked offensive punch against Utah State.

While the Mountain Cats would like to concentrate on offense, they will have to divide their time with defense work, too, especially pass defense.

In quarterback, Merv Holland the Colonials have one of the top-ranking passers in the nation. Holland has accounted for a total of over 1,000 yards passing in GW's seven games.

Against West Virginia last Saturday he hit on 15 of 34 attempts for a total of 178 yards.

Maori Tiki Visits BYU Wednesday

Imagine a thousand-year-old Maori mask traveling halfway around the world on a cotton string?

A POLYNESIAN stone image of a God, a tiki, is in the United States this month, hanging on a black cotton string around the neck of one of the members of the Te Arohango Maori Dance Company.

Mrs. Marie Pere, who along with her 335 fellow Maori, will perform Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse, is the proud owner of the tiki.

This is the first time the tiki has left New Zealand.

FEW ANCIENT tiki remain in the possession of Maori families. In other times it was commonplace for important headdresses to be buried with the bodies of the chiefs. Later, overseas collectors offered high prices for tiki and the most important ones remaining in New Zealand are in museums.

"I don't give the tiki to anyone to wear," smiled Mrs. Pere. "Besides, no Maori would wear it, as it did belong to one family and cannot be given or traded to anyone else."

"NOW TIKIS are worn as luck charms. We take a lot of pride in keeping them in the families," she said.

The Maori group will arrive on campus at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Smoot Administration Bldg. Persons wishing to visit with them at that time may do so.

Mrs. Marie Pere wears a rough hewn greenstone God-image, a thousand-year-old tiki, which has been worn for generations by the Maori women. She is one of the 136 singers and dancers of the traveling Maori company.
